

Case study on python flask

Using the iris dataset, create a web application to take feature inputs from the user in a web page and print to which species it is classified.

Submit the complete file as .zip in Paatshala

Please keep your name as the file name

